Ballinger Should Resign.

Are the services of Richard A. Ballinger as secretary of the interior department worth the price the Taft administration is paying in keeping him in office? This is a question that many Republicans are considering. Despite the "vindication" of Mr. Ballinger by a partisan majority of the Congressional investigating committee, the fact remains that the evidence discredited him as a public servant. Even the Republicans feel that he has lost the confidence of the people and that his resignation would lift a load from the Taft administration.

The Real Good.

Of the three hundred and sixty-five days in one year, in no one of them is much happiness concentrated as in that of Christmas. Parents and guardians are made happy by the expenditure of labor and money to please the young, and the refining influence of these acts on their own natures are of more value to them than three times the amount of gold and silver they have expended in procuring them. Who is the man or woman of fifty or sixty who cannot look back over these vanished years and recall with pleasing associations some token in his or her youth from some kind friend on Christmas. So it is to be now, and from generation to generation. The real good and the extended influence of these gifts to the young we may not presume to measure. To a refining sense they are more durable and far exceed their price in silver and gold.

Change in Business.

Mr. S. N. Davis of Clark county has purchased the stock of general merchandise formerly belonging to Mr. C. D. Powell. We are glad to welcome Mr. Davis into our town and glad to state that Mr. Powell will not leave us.

Hustling Firm.

Mr. Guy Davidson has purchased from Will Walker, his interest in the grocery and meat market adjoining the National Bank. The place is owned now by Mr. Davidson and Mr. Alex Walker and the former will have charge of the business.

Both these gentlemen are men of the highest type and have many friends in the town and county. It goes without saying that they will enjoy a good trade.

Progressives Disappointed.

When President Taft was considering who he would appoint to the Supreme bench he gave the progressive Republicans a list of men and asked them to investigate their records and decide what their attitude would be if he should nominate them. This the progressives did, reporting favor of some and against others. Imagine their surprise when the President announced his selection and it was found that neither of the men appointed were included in any list which had been submitted to them.

Liquor As Baggage.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals decided in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Southern Railway that if the Railway Company carries whisky into a local option district as baggage and without receiving any pay other than the price of a passenger's ticket no indictment can be returned under the statute for shipping whisky into local option territory.

This statute is not much benefit any way, for anyone can order liquor from Cincinnati and have it in a few days. What we need is a law of some kind to prohibit shipping from one state into another. Will some wise Judge please find a way to get this law passed.

Learn To Read.

The good people who live near Hubble have started a school for people who are over twenty one years of age and cannot read nor write. The class is composed of eighteen people between the ages of twenty four and fifty seven. They have only been in it a few weeks each night but already many of them can read short sentences. This work was started by Dr. E. H. Pierce who deserves much credit for his faithful work among the people of this county.

Similar schools should be started in every county. This could be done easily if only we can get the people interested. It is very little trouble to the people of Hubble for the work is divided among several of the good members of the church, so that they can take time about in teaching the classes.

Drys Victorious.

The drys won a victory when the Court of Appeals reversed the judgment of the Jessamine Circuit Court in the case of F. P. Taylor, et al, against J. M. Betts, et al, and held that the local option election in that county was invalid. The opinion was written by Commissioner Clay.

The wets won in a local option election held in Jessamine county last spring by a majority of thirty-five votes and the drys contested the election on the ground that the special registration was not held five days prior to the election as provided by law, but less than five days before the election.

The drys also alleged that the officers in two of the voting precincts told the voters that it would not be necessary to show their registration certificates, and the Appellate Court, in deciding that point said that in order for a vote to be valid and counted the registration certificate must be shown before the vote was cast. The Court says in conclusion.

"The failure of the County Judge to fix the day of the special registration on a day not less than five days prior to the local option election makes the election void."

Record Breaker.

R. H. Dun in Dun's Review says:—The year now drawing to a close will be notable for its harvest, the money value of its farm products being computed at close to $9,000,000,000—a record figure. This fact forms the best possible basis for industrial advanced next year. While for several months the volume of production and distribution has been below the normal, there can be no widespread stagnation while the farms of the country continue to yield so bountifully as they have during the past eleven months. Moreover, the government report issued this week shows that the winter wheat area sown this fall is the largest on record, and that weather conditions have improved since the report was gathered. There is, however, little change in financial and business sentiment, which remains conservative and cautious. The holiday trade is nevertheless opening up well, and certain important centers of the jobbing trade in staple merchandise is also improving. The cold weather has been beneficial to most merchants and the heavy fall of snow is most seasonable.

Tobacco Growers.

About six hundred representative tobacco growers from practically every county in the burley belt of Kentucky assembled in Lexington Monday to discuss the tobacco situation. A committee was appointed to draw a practical plan for action and after a session of over three hours agreed upon the following report:

Your committee appointed to devise ways and means of pooling the White Burley tobacco in such counties in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, and West Virginia as can and do raise White Burley tobacco respectfully report as follows.

First—That we recommend the pooling of the 1911 crop, and in the same contract cut out the 1912 crop; that all counties in the Burley district are requested to send delegates to Lexington on the 5th day of January, 1911, to devise ways and means to bring about this end.

For the purpose of strengthening the 1911 pool we also recommend to the addition of the 1911 pool any other unsold tobacco on hand.

Second—We favor county organization and home rule.

Third—We favor a reasonable per cent. contract.

Fourth—We favor a separate organization and recommend co-operation with similar tobacco organizations.

Fifth—We recommend that June W. Gayle, Judge B. F. Hitt and H. M. Forman be appointed a committee to take up the question of organization and confer with other similar organizations and report at the meeting on January 5th, 1911.

Holiday Greetings.

May the time soon come when all the nations of earth, whatever their boundaries and whatever their forms of government, can be included under the peaceful and friendly title of "The United States of Christendom."

—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

The United States, the greatest opportunity ever offered to man. Each citizen should urge himself and the nations onward in intelligence, industry, honor and benevolence.

—David Swing.

A word of Godspeed, and good cheer To all on earth, or far or near, Or friend or foe, or thine or mine In echo of the voice Divine Heard, when the star bloomed forth and lit

The world's face, with God's smile on it.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

It is my heart-warm and world-embracing Christmas hope and aspiration that all of us—the high, the low, the rich the poor the admired, the despised, the loved, the hated, the civilized, the savage—may eventually be gathered together in a heaven of everlasting rest, and peace, and bliss, except the inventor of the telephone —Mark Twain.

Our Christmas Tree.

O, our Christmas tree so bright and green, awaits Old Santa Claus, And the chimney place all swept and clean gapes wide its ponderous jaws, The little stockings are all hung up, and baby's just makes four. Won't old Santa Claus be surprised when he finds there is one more! There's an elegant place up in the tree to hang Johnny's gun, and a place for May and one for Kate to leave their dolls upon. But for little baby blue eyes a lower branch he must choose, where she may reach and find the place he's hung her first new shoes. Turn down the light a little now, so Old Santa Claus can see And baby and all must go to bed and be as good as can be, and tomorrow morn get up early after a long night's sleep, and come softly down to the Xmas tree and see

Who will get the first peep.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

For Circuit Judge

We are authorized to announce Hon Charles A. Hardin a candidate for Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial District, at the November election, 1911, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Merry Xmas.

On account of our regular press day being so near Xmas this year, we are publishing our paper one day sooner so that our overworked employees may have time to prepare to enjoy the most blessed season of the year.

Although Xmas is one of the greatest feasts of the protestant, Catholic and Greek Churches, nobody knows anything definite about its origin or who first celebrated it or when or where or how. Nobody even knows where the first Xmas tree came from; and, worst of all, nobody knows whether December 25th, is really the correct anniversary of Christ's birth or not. This is partly owing to the fact that the earlier Christians looked upon the celebrations of birthdays even our Lords, as heathenish but we find now that Xmas is celebrated mostly throughout the world, of course the celebrations varying to some extent but ordinarily there is the same air of mystery and expectancy and secrecy that prevails with us and the homes are decorated with holly and mistletoe.

Amid all the planning and decorating for the Xmas season, is it not well to stop and ask ourselves, how we can really enjoy ourselves most? It is only natural to plan for the happiness of those who are near and dear to us and to look forward to personal pleasure, but my dear readers, if we can bring into some lonely desolate life, a ray of sunshine at this glad Xmas time, if we can keep some childish heart from feeling forgotten and neglected and this world more seem a little brighter to the more unfortunate then indeed will this prove a happy Yule-tide for us. And with this thought in mind, the editor wishes each and every one, "A Merry Xmas and a happy New Year."

Who Will Be Jurors.

The trial by jury in both criminal and civil matters comes to us from an ancient custom. However, the method of selecting those who act as such is often changed and is not the same in every state. The circuit Judge is directed by law to appoint at the November Term three, intelligent and discreet householders over twenty years old, residing in different portions of the county to serve as Jury Commissioners. The Commissioners are directed to repair to a room, with no one present except the three, with the last assessors book before them, and from the list found thereon, select two hundred names of intelligent, sober, discreet and impartial, householders, over twenty years old, residing in different portions of the county, and write those names upon slips of paper and enclose them in small cases. These two hundred cases with the names are then placed in a revolving drum wheel and thoroughly mixed. The Commissioners then take from the wheel twenty of the small cases and the slips are taken out and the names written on a list which is enclosed in an envelope, from which twenty names the twelve grand jurors are selected for the next term of the court. After obtaining the list for the grand jury the wheel is again revolved by the commissioners and the contents thoroughly mixed and then thirty six of the small cases are taken out and the names contained therein are placed on a list and sealed in an envelope from which the twenty four petit jurors are selected at the next term of the court. These envelopes containing the list of grand and petit jurors are delivered to the circuit clerk who places the list in the hands of the sheriff who at the proper time summons the parties to appear on the first day of the next term of the court to do jury service. At the March and June terms of the Circuit Court the Judge in open court takes out the names for the Grand and Petit jurors as did the Commissioners at the November term. Our jurors for the next twelve months will be those whose names were placed in the wheel at the recent term of court.

A Pain Duty.

When the citizen, possessing the legal qualification, is called upon to do jury service it is his duty to act. Not that the per diem fixed by law remunerates him for his time, but his obligation to society which protects him in his life, liberty, property and per-suits of happiness is of sufficient moment to warrant in neglecting his private affairs for the brief time required. Many of our most active business men evade jury service and in doing so lower the average intelligence and qualification of those who generally constitute the juries. By reason of the numerous transactions those most actively engaged in business have the most important to them that all controversies embracing both civil and criminal matters be fairly and correctly settled and this can be had only by having honest, experienced and intelligent men pass upon the controversies. We therefore, urge all men who are summoned for jury service to act unless the reason for evading is well founded.

Yes, Christmas is drawing very near. Then let us with one hand tenderly cling to the old year while we stretch forth the other to greet the new. To some it has been a year of prosperity, to others one of adversity and sorrow. As we look back over past events we cannot fail to note the absence of many that were with us a year ago. But now they are gone, been called home to return no more. This time last year they were planning a surprise for some one near and dear to them in the way of a Christmas present that would cause them to be remembered as the years roll on bringing the joyous Christmas time.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian says the California State Board of Health has figured out that the average cost of raising a child to the age of 20 is $1,150 and that its average commercial value is $1,000. According to this calculation every child is raised at an average net loss of $150. The same wise calculators have also figured out that the average citizen of the United States is worth commercially $2,900. Of course there are different grades some being worth as low as 30 cents a dozen.

Wonderful Progress.

In the days of Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett and Kit Carson, travel to and through the South was either on foot or horseback and full of hardships. But today one may leave any Northern city, and in a day or two traveling in perfect comfort under care sufficient for even the most delicate invalid, be set down in a part of the country which will make him rub his eyes and believe that winter never comes.

The North Winter's Heart is Cold,
The Southern Heart is Warm,
And in her fond and true embrace
We find a host of joys untold,
We find an ever present charm
Where Winter has no place.

Winter means to the North and ice, snow, sleet and chill, cold and discomfort; to the Southland, blue and brilliant skies, genial airs and balmy sunshine, the unrestricted pleasures of outdoor life, scenery that never fails to enchant, foliage of perennial green, and flowers in perpetual bloom. The abundant and delightful outdoor life of the Southern winter is its chiefest charm, and no attractive feature has been overlooked or forgotten. Golf may be played on the finest links in the country; tennis on clay courts kept in the pink of perfection; surf bathing in water at a temperature of seventy degrees and above, riding, motoring over picturesque roads through tropical scenery and on the hard sand beach; yachting, rowing and fishing at sea and in land locked waters; chair-wheeling and bicycling on palm-lined promenades and through tropical jungles. The finest climate in the world—every day a June day, full of sunshine. For the hunter, the South provides practically every feathered and furred creature from quail and squirrels to wild turkey and deer; and for the fisherman, a bewildering variety of game fish from the rainbow hued trout to the majestic Tarpon. The Queen & Crescent Route has made it possible for the winter traveler from the North to revel in luxurious "palaces on wheels," which speed like the wind through regions of beauty and bloom. The many thriving cities, attractive resorts and historic points along the route make it doubly interesting. With the superb express trains, electric lighted and equipped with the latest types of Pullman drawing-room, state-room, club, library and observation sleeping cars, it is little wonder that so many tourists in the Northern and Middle States visit the South by this great railway system. This road operates the finest trains in the United States between Cincinnati, Ohio, and Jacksonville, Florida, and New Orleans, Louisiana, and low round trip winter tourist rates are being made from all points along the line.

Christmas Eve In Rural England

It was a brilliant moonlight night, but extremely cold. Our chaise whirled rapidly over the frozen ground. The postboy smacked his whip incessantly, and a part of the time his horses were on a gallop. "He knows where he is going," said my companion, laughing, "and is eager to arrive in time for some of the merriment and good cheer of the servants' hall. My father is a devotee of the old school and prides himself on keeping up something of old English hospitality. He was always scrupulous in exacting our holidays and having us around him on family festivals. It was the policy of the good old gentleman to make his children feel that home was the happiest place in the world, and I value this delicious home feeling as one of the choicest gifts a parent can bestow." The squire ushered us at once to the company, which was assembled in a large, old fashioned hall. It was composed of different branches of a numerous family connection. They were variously occupied, and a profusion of wooden horses, penny trumpets and tattered dolls about the floor showed traces of a little troop of fairy beings that had frolicked through a happy day.

While the mutual greetings were going on between Bracebridge and his relatives I had time to scan the apartment. The grate had been removed from the wide, overhanging fireplace to make way for a fire of wood, in the midst of which was an enormous log, glowing and blazing and sending forth a vast volume of light and heat. This I understood, was the Yule log, which the squire was particular in having brought in and illuminated on Christmas eve, according to ancient custom.

It was really delightful to see the old squire seated in his hereditary elbow chair by the hospitable fireside of his ancestors and looking around him like the sun of a system, beaming warmth and gladness to every heart. Even the very dog that lay stretched at his feet, as he lazily shifted his position and yawned, would look up in his master's face, wag his tail against the floor and stretch himself again to sleep, sure of kindness and protection. Supper was announced shortly after our arrival. It was served up in a spacious oaken chamber, the panels of which shone with wax and around which were several family portraits, decorated with holly and ivy. Besides the accustomed lights, two great wax tapers, called Christmas candles, wreathed with greens, were placed on a highly polished buffet among the family plate. The table was abundantly spread with substantial fare, but the squire made his supper of frummenty, a dish made of wheat cakes boiled in milk, with rich spices, being a standing dish in old times for Christmas eve. I was happy to find my old friend, minced pie, in the retinue of the feast.

The supper had disposed every one to gaiety, and an old harper was summoned from the servants' hall. . . . The dance, like most dances after supper, was a merry one. Some of the older folk joined in it, and the squire himself figured down several couples with a partner with whom he affirmed he had danced at every Christmas for nearly half a century.

The party broke up for the night with the kind hearted old custom of shaking hands. As I passed through the hall on the way to my chamber the dying embers of the Yule log still sent forth a dusky glow, and had it not been the season when "no spirit dares stir abroad" I should have been half tempted to steal from my room at midnight and peep whether the fairies might not be at their revels about the hearth. I had scarcely got into bed when a strain of music seemed to break forth in the air just below the window. I listened and found it proceeded from a band which I concluded to be the waits from some neighboring village. I drew aside the curtains to hear them more distinctly. The moonbeams fell through the upper part of the casement, partially lighting up the antiquated apartment. The sounds as they receded became more soft and aerial and seemed to accord with quiet and moonlight. I listened and listened. They became more and more tender and remote, and as they gradually died away my head sank upon the pillow, and I fell asleep.—Washington Irving.

A Christmas Doll Wedding

We are to have a wedding:
Our mothers named it all.
You are to be my little wife
And I your husband tall.

I love your pretty eyes of brown—
My own are dark and blue—
But as they're only glass, my dear,
They'll see no faults in you.

My china lips, they long to kiss
All your dull cares away,
But I must wait for three long weeks
Until our wedding day.

However, time will pass, sweet maid,
And then we'll never part.
I swear to love you all my life
With my true wooden heart.
Your own REGINALD.

Dec. 3, 1910.

Such was the love letter written by Reginald Graham of New York, a beautiful doll twenty inches tall, light hair, blue eyes, with long dark lashes, to his ladylove, Miss Alice Winchester, a brown eyed doll beauty of Boston.

The fact is that a marriage had been arranged between these two dollies by their little mammas and several grown-up aunts, to take place at Christmas time at the home of the doll bride. But making the clothes! Grandmas, cousins and aunts spent days using their nimble fingers to fashion the tiny manly garments, as no little girl could possibly do the difficult sewing.

It was decided that a black broadcloth suit must be made, but as a full dress evening coat could be used only for formal occasions a tuxedo or dinner coat was finally agreed upon as being of more service.

All the time we have been telling about the bridegroom dear little Alice has been so busy having a long white satin wedding dress made, a real lace veil and the daintiest kind of lace trimmed undergarments.

A traveling gown of cloth, an automobile coat of champagne color, a white hat with feathers and flowers, all have been prepared for the "going away" costume.

A procession of twenty little girls with their dollies follows Reginald and Alice, who march into the drawing room to the music of a wedding march played on the piano; then into the dining room, where the dollies sit at a table that has been arranged for them, with a tiny wedding cake decorating the center.

Then comes the wedding tour around the garden, and then the newly married pair go to housekeeping in a big closet that has been furnished for them with all the latest conveniences.

It was really the most brilliant marriage that was ever made in Toyland and is the true story of a dear little brown eyed girl's Christmas present.

A great many dollie guests were invited from "Mother Goose" Land, and among those most noticed were:

Jack Be Nimble, Jack Be Quick,
Who was the first one there;
Then came the little Goldie Locks,
Who ran away from the bear.

Bright Miss Nancy Etticoat,
Dressed in blue and red,
Shone beside Tom Tucker,
Who sang the supper song.

Mistress Mary, Quite Contrary,
Brought from her garden fair
Several maids all in a row,
With pretty curling hair.

Bobby Shafto, from o'er the sea,
Was in a happy mood;
I saw him gazing bashfully
At dear Red Riding Hood.

Little Miss Muffet had left her tuffet
And surprised us all, oh, my!
By going to a corner with little Jack
Horner
And sharing his Christmas pie.

Shy Bopeep without her sheep
Many sweet glances won,
And there without his little pig
Was Tom, the Piper's Son.

Marjorie Daw and big Tom Stout
Both came with much attention
And many more whose names, alas,
I haven't room to mention.

It was a wedding so very grand,
All in the month of December,
With the very Four Hundred of Toyland there
As many will long remember.
—Julian Jerome.

After Christmas.

Said the Christmas tree by the old back fence
To the one just over the way:
"I thought me it hard to be
Out here in the cold today.
Last week I stood in a brilliant room,
With children dancing by,
And beautiful candles warmed me through."

Said the Christmas tree by the old back fence
To the one just over the way:
"I wish out there on the mountain side
They only had me stay.
My roots were strong, I was warm and green."

Said the Christmas tree by the old back fence
To the one just over the way:
"A little girl threw a rock at me
As he passed along today.
And last week, up by a beautiful dell,
A sled was hanging high
For that bad little boy. I'm tired to death."

Said the Christmas tree by the old back fence
To the one just over the way:
"You ugly old tree, who cares for you?
And she made up a face so wry
I wouldn't believe folks could so forget."
Said the other tree, "Nor would I."

Said the Christmas tree by the old back fence
To the one just over the way:
"It's hard to die so far from home,
But I guess we've had our day.
And the children maybe in years to come
Will think of us with a sigh
And the boy it gave, I am remembered."
Said the other tree, "So am I."
—May R. McNabb in Pittsburg Dispatch.

Great Interest.

Democrats throughout Kentucky are showing great interest in the meeting of the State executive committee called for Thursday. Chairman Prewitt has stated that the meeting has not been called for the purpose of adopting a method for nominating candidates for State officers but advocates of a State convention and a State-wide primary will present their views to the committee. The Primary plan is growing more popular every year.

WALTON SQUIDS.

In his maiden speech late Young of Iowa, appointed by the Governor to the vacancy occasioned by the death of United States Senator Duffell, said that the editors rule this country. This may or may not be true, but few will deny, if true, the excellence of the ruling power. Mr. Young also said that we have entirely too much legislation and that Congress ought to adjourn for two years.

As Mr. Young is an editor, it would give him more time to edit his paper while he drew $15,000 from the Government for doing nothing, but his suggestion, while a good one, is not likely to be adopted.

It is better for the farmers not to raise tobacco than to raise it at a loss. We believe the only method by which they can be certain it will bring a fair profit is through organization. Whether it is too soon after the failure of the effort to pool the tobacco this year, to organize another pool, we are in doubt and hope those who are more familiar with the situation and more directly interested in it will have expressions of their views through the columns of the Herald. We would like particularly to have the views of those who did not join the pool as to whether they still adhere to their former opinion, that it is unwise to attempt to form an organization of the tobacco growers.

There is said to be an effort to oust Mr. M. H. Thatcher from the Governorship of the Canal Zone, in order to give the place to one of the lame ducks but it is dollars to doughnuts that he will not be disturbed. Senator Bradley had him appointed and he is ordered for taking care of his friends. Say with him Senator.

A Chicago woman has been turned out for divorce because her husband's stenographer looked at him "lovingly, lovingly, sweetly and lovingly." Some women seem to have no appreciation of the value of their things. How can the average man keep from fascinating the fair ones?

A woman jury, the first at Olympia, Washington, found a verdict in favor of a man for damages in short order. If that fellow is not already an advocate of Woman's Suffrage, gratitude alone should make him get busy in that direction.

People of Lancaster who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Dr. King's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys made from pure roots and herbs, and the only one that is backed by every physician. Here's Lancaster's testimony:

Mrs. B. F. Walters, 1111 St. Louis, Ky., says: "I never fail to praise Dr. King's Kidney Pills when I have the opportunity. I have not been without a supply of this remedy in the house for years and whenever my back aches and my head aches, a few doses give prompt relief. For some time I suffered from kidney trouble. The kidney secretions were abnormal and I was very uncomfortable. At that time it was my good fortune to hear of Dr. King's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply at F. G. Hurt's Drug Store. Through their use my ailments were cured and I am now well."

"My sister had consumption," he writes, "she was very thin and pale, had no appetite and seemed to grow weaker every day, as all remedies failed, till Dr. King's New Discovery was tried, and so completely cured her, that she has not been troubled with a cough since. BAD BREAK.

"Beautiful girl!" cried the impulsive young man on the shadowy deck of the lake steamer. "Nonsense!" laughed the pretty maid. "Beauty is but skin deep." "Ah, would that thou wert a hippopotamus."

The lapping of the waves grew fainter. It seemed as though he was sitting on an iceberg, so frigid were the surroundings. "That is, I mean—well, you know a hippo's skin is fudge! A hippo's skin is thick, deucedly thick, and if beauty is skin deep and you had the skin of a hippo, why—er—you'd be that much more beautiful. Do I make myself plain, Miss Evangeline?"

"Yes, sir, you make yourself out to be the plainest dunce I ever saw. I shall never speak to you again."

A Ready Example.

She picked upon Tommy as the most likely to do her credit. Tommy's freckled knees showed through his trousers, and because the managers were present, Tommy sat with a hand on each knee. "Tommy," said the teacher, "will you please give me"—the teacher was always polite when the managers were present—"will you please give me a sentence with the word 'toward' in it?"

Then Tommy rose, and, in a graceful attitude, with a thumb on each freckle, answered: "Please, teacher, I toward my trowals!"—Answers.

They Saw the Joke.

An inveterate punster of this city happened to be at a county fair lately in the art embroidery section, when he saw approaching a pair of acquaintances whose front names were Eliza and Ferd. As they started to come in, he barred the way. "This is no place for you," he cried. "Go over to the plant department where they are in need of Ferd-Eliza."

And then he fled just before the joke began to glimmer upon them.—Baltimore American.

"$2,000.00"

Mr. Luther Guthrie, of Beaufort, N. C. spent money freely in employing doctors to cure his wife from continual headache. He writes:

"One bottle of Cardui did my wife more good than anything she has taken for ten years past. She had suffered with headache for ten years and I had spent $300.00 for doctors' bills for her, but nothing did her any good."

Take CARDUI

She has taken two bottles of Cardui and it has done her two thousand dollars ($2,000) worth of good. Just as long as it is made, I shall have Cardui in my home."

For all forms of female pain, like headache, side ache, pain in limbs, dizzy feelings, dragging down-sensations, etc.—Cardui has been found to be an effectual remedy. Don't wait till you are "all run down." Try Cardui at once. Sold everywhere.

OFFICIAL CALL.

The Democratic Committee in and for the Thirteenth Circuit Court District of Kentucky, met pursuant to the call of Chairman G. L. Penny, at the office of Chenault Hugely in Danville, Boyle County, Kentucky, on Friday, December 16, 1910, at 2.30 P. M., and the members from Lincoln, Mercer, and Boyle were present in person and the member from Garrard was present by proxy held by Chairman J. C. Bonta, of Mercer, which proxy was duly accepted by the Committee.

Said meeting was called to order by Chairman Penny. On motion, Chenault Hugely was duly nominated and elected Secretary of said Committee. The following resolutions were then duly offered, seconded and unanimously adopted.

1. A primary election is hereby called to be held in the several voting precincts of the Thirteenth Circuit Court District of Kentucky, consisting of the counties of Lincoln, Boyle, Garrard and Mercer, between the hours of six A. M., and four P. M., standard time, on Saturday, March 4, 1911, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for the office of Judge of the Thirteenth Circuit Court district of Kentucky, to be voted for at the special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1911, to fill the unexpired term of said office caused by the death of Judge M. C. Sautley.

2. All Democrats who are legal voters shall be entitled to vote in said primary election, and are requested to do so.

3. Any person desiring to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for said office, shall, not later than Saturday, February 18, 1911, give notice of his intention so to do, in writing, to G. L. 4. Said District Committee will meet at the office of its Secretary, in Danville, Kentucky, on Monday, February 20, 1911, at two P. M., standard time, and if, at the expiration of the time fixed by Section 3 hereof, there be not more than one candidate for said office who has complied with the conditions of Section 3, then the committee shall resolve itself into a nominating convention, and shall declare such person to be the nominee for the office, and shall refund to such candidate the amount deposited by him, less the costs then accrued for advertising and preparing for said election.

5. The polls shall be opened in each and every voting precinct of all the counties in the district aforesaid, in the regular voting places.

6. Upon the closing of the polls, the officers shall proceed to count the ballots and to make return, and in so doing, shall be governed by the provisions of the general election law, and the returns shall be made to the chairman of the respective counties in the District, who will deliver the stub books, the certificates, and any questioned ballots to the Secretary of this Committee.

7. The officers of elections shall be selected by this Committee from the lists to be submitted by the several candidates in accordance with the provisions of the primary election law.

8. Each candidate shall be entitled to designate, by a written notice to the chairman of each county committee in the District, not less than five days prior to March 4, 1911, the name of one person for each voting precinct in said county, to act as challenger and inspector for said candidate at said primary election.

9. The committee shall meet at two P. M., standard time, at the office of its Secretary, in Danville, Kentucky, on the next day after the returns shall have been made, and canvass the vote cast at said election, and issue a certificate of nomination.

10. The chairman of the District Committee is directed to employ a competent person to copy from the regular registration books made for the cities of Danville and Harrodsburg, for the 1910 election, the names of all Democrats, and the person so employed shall return the copies, certified as required by law, to said Chairman, who shall cause them to be duly delivered to the officers of elections; and the chairman is directed to cause to be printed and prepared for use the requisite number and kind of ballots, which shall bear the facsimile of his signature, and he will procure the necessary election supplies, and cause them, together with the ballots, to be delivered to the officers of election as required by law.

11. The chairman will cause copies of this resolution, certified by himself and the secretary of the committee, to be posted one at the court house door in Stanford, Lancaster, Danville and Harrodsburg, and one in twenty other conspicuous places in each District, for not less than forty days prior to February 11, 1911, and said notice shall also be published in each Democratic newspaper in the District.
